Lecture: T/Th, 2:20 pm - 3:35 pm, Phillips 108
Office Hours: Th, 12:00 pm - 2:00 pm, Monroe 472

Semester Spring 2026

“There is no Republican or Democratic way to pick up the garbage.”
- Fiorello La Guardia, Mayor of New York City 1934-45

“All politics is local.” - Tip O’Neill, Speaker of the House 1977-1987

Course Description

This course will introduce you to the mechanics and politics of states and local government in the United States. We will begin by surveying what state and local governments actually control: what they spend on and how they raise that revenue. Next, we will unpack what social science can tell us about who gets what and why in the state and local context. Finally, we will explore specific policy areas, addressing current debates using the social science lens we’ve developed. Along the way, you will deliver a group presentation on a topic of your choice using political science theory to understand why things may be broken and how to help fix them.

Learning Goals

The goal of this course is to improve your ability to:

1. Navigate the array of decisions and policy areas controlled by state and local governments.
2. Apply concepts of institutional and behavioral political science to the local and state political arena.
3. Convey policy ideas through oral and written argument, incorporating advanced social science evidence and analysis.

Course Prerequisites

PSC 1002. Introduction to American Politics and Government.

Expected Time Commitment

You will spend 2.5 hours per week in direct instruction or guided interaction. The average minimum amount of out-class learning expected per week is 8 hours (<https://cte.rice.edu/workload>) for a total of 120 hours per semester.

Readings

This class does not have a required textbook. All readings will be posted on Blackboard (<http://blackboard/gwu/edu>). “Supplemental Readings” are things I find useful but are not necessary for the week’s class. Readings are subject to change up to one week before their assigned class. Please check the syllabus posted on Blackboard for updates.

Office Hours

I will be holding office hours from 12:00 pm to 2:00 pm every Thursday in my office, Monroe Hall 472. You are welcome to come by at any time during that window. However, I recommend that you email me in advance so I can reserve a time slot for you. If you arrive without emailing me in advance, you may have to wait for an available time slot to open.

Course Assignments and Grading

Grades will be composed of the following:

- 40% Daily quizzes
- 10% Participation
- 25% Group paper + presentation
- 25% Final exam

Quizzes

Special thanks to Prof. Danny Hayes for this material.

Short quizzes will be used at the start of each class to incentivize active reading. The quizzes consist of 5 multiple choice, content-based questions. You will have 5 minutes to complete the quiz once you started, and the quiz must be completed within the first 8 minutes of class. The quizzes will be administered via Respondus LockDown Browser, so please bring an Internet-connected laptop to each class.

The quizzes will cover both material from that day’s assigned reading as well as material covered in the previous lecture. You must be in lecture to take the quiz and showing up to take the quiz earns you 25 points out of the available 100 points for each quiz. Each question is worth 15 points. If you answer four questions correctly, for instance, you would receive an 85 out of 100. The quizzes will not be particularly difficult, but you will do well only if you keep up with the reading assignments. There will be 22 quizzes over the course of the semester. I will drop your lowest 5 scores and average the rest. Your quiz average will constitute 40% of your grade.

Why have frequent quizzes instead of a few exams? Good question. There is evidence that frequent quizzes improve students’ learning significantly. For example, in one recent study in a large introductory psychology class, instituting on-line quizzes appeared to improve students’ performance.¹ Students taking that class also did better in their other courses that semester, and in the classes they took the next semester. This suggests that regular assessment helps students develop study habits that are beneficial in other courses, not just the course that assigns quizzes. Frequent quizzes also help me ascertain how well certain concepts are understood, so that I can adjust the content of lectures accordingly.

Because I am dropping the 5 lowest quiz grades, there will be no makeups (other than for religious observances [see policy below] or GW athletic or other events that you are required to participate in). These dropped quiz grades should also count for personal days/mild illness. If you experience an intense illness requiring physician care, you may make up the quiz conditional on submitting a doctor’s note.

Group Presentation and Paper

The capstone assignment is a group presentation and paper on a topic of your choice. You will be assigned to work in groups of four. Presentations will occur during the last 3 classes of the semester. The paper will be due the week prior to your group's presentation. Both will address the following prompts:

- Framework - What do you plan to research and propose? Why does this policy area present a problem? Who does the problem affect? What are the foreseeable costs and benefits?
- Literature review and evidence - Cite specific research about the problem and the efficacy of proposed solutions.
- Policy recommendations - What are some of the proposed ways to respond to this social challenge?
- Political science theory - How does political science explain the status quo problem? Why is your proposed solution politically feasible?

You will be graded as a group, both on the quality of your final report and on your ability to defend the report in the face of questioning. This group grade will be combined with a peer evaluation grade from the other members in your group, with 75% of the grade coming from the overall group project and 25% coming from your team members' evaluation of your contribution to that effort.

Lateness and Participation Policy

You are required to come to class on time. The window to take the quiz closes after the first 8 minutes of class (quizzes submitted after this time will not be accepted). Within class, you are expected to actively contribute to the discussion, both in small groups and as a whole. Combined, active participation and respect for your peers is incorporated into the participation grade.

Note: Laptops and other electronic devices are not permitted in class. Please speak to me if you require a device for DSS accommodations.

Final Exam

There will be an in-person final exam during the University-assigned window. The exam is closed book and closed notes and hand written. There are no makeups for the final exam. The exam schedule will be posted during the first month of the semester. Please plan your end-of-semester travel accordingly.

AI

You may use AI tools to brainstorm for your group projects, but you are responsible for what you write. You will be evaluated on it in the project defense. You may not use AI nor any other outside assistance or notes during daily quizzes.

University Policies

Observance of Religious Holidays

Students must notify faculty during the first week of the semester in which they are enrolled in the course, or as early as possible, but no later than three weeks prior to the absence, of their intention to be absent from class on their day(s) of religious observance. If the holiday falls within the first three weeks of class, the student must inform faculty in the first week of the semester. For details and policy, see: provost.gwu.edu/policies-procedures-and-guidelines.

Academic Integrity Code

Academic integrity is an essential part of the educational process, and all members of the GW community take these matters very seriously. As the instructor of record for this course, my role is to provide clear expectations and uphold them in all assessments. Violations of academic integrity occur when students fail to cite research sources properly, engage in unauthorized collaboration, falsify data, and otherwise violate the Code of Academic Integrity. If you have any questions about whether particular academic practices or resources are permitted, you should ask me for clarification. If you are reported for an academic integrity violation, you should contact Conflict Education and Student Accountability (CESA), formerly known as Student Rights and Responsibilities (SRR), to learn more about your rights and options in the process. Consequences can range from failure of assignment to expulsion from the University and may include a transcript notation. For more information, refer to the CESA website at students.gwu.edu/code-academic-integrity or contact CESA by email cesa@gwu.edu or phone 202-994-6757.

Use of Electronic Course Materials and Class Recordings

Students are encouraged to use electronic course materials, including recorded class sessions, for private personal use in connection with their academic program of study. Electronic course materials and recorded class sessions should not be shared or used for non-course related purposes unless express permission has been granted by the instructor. Students who impermissibly share any electronic course materials are subject to discipline under the Student Code of Conduct. Contact the instructor if you have questions regarding what constitutes permissible or impermissible use of electronic course materials and/or recorded class sessions. Contact Disability Support Services at disabilitysupport.gwu.edu if you have questions or need assistance in accessing electronic course materials.

Writing Center

GW's Writing Center cultivates confident writers in the University community by facilitating collaborative, critical, and inclusive conversations at all stages of the writing process. Working alongside peer mentors, writers develop strategies to write independently in academic and public settings. Appointments can be booked online. See gwu.mywconline.

Academic Commons

Academic Commons provides tutoring and other academic support resources to students in many courses. Students can schedule virtual one-on-one appointments or attend virtual drop-in sessions. Students may schedule an appointment, review the tutoring schedule, or access other academic support resources at academiccommons.gwu.edu. For assistance contact academiccommons@gwu.edu.

Disability Support Services (DSS)

Any student who may need an accommodation based on the potential impact of a disability should contact Disability Support Services to establish eligibility and to coordinate reasonable accommodations: disabilitysupport.gwu.edu or call 202-994-8250.

Student Health Center

The Student Health Center (SHC) offers medical, counseling/psychological, and psychiatric services to GW students. More information about the SHC is available at healthcenter.gwu.edu. Students experiencing a medical or mental health emergency on campus should contact GW Emergency Services at 202-994-6111, or off campus at 911.

Safety and Security

- In an emergency: call GWPD 202-994-6111 or 911
- For situation-specific actions: review the Emergency Response Handbook at safety.gwu.edu/emergency-response-handbook
- GW Alert is an emergency notification system that sends alerts to the GW community. GW requests students, faculty, and staff maintain current contact information by logging on to alert.gwu.edu. Alerts are sent via email, text, social media, and other means, including the Guardian app. The Guardian app is a safety app that allows you to communicate quickly with GW Emergency Services, 911, and other resources. Learn more at safety.gwu.edu.
- Protective Actions - GW prescribes four protective actions that can be issued by university officials depending on the type of emergency. All GW community members are expected to follow directions according to the specified protective action. The protective actions are Shelter, Evacuate, Secure, and Lockdown (details below). Learn more at safety.gwu.edu/gw-standard-emergency-statuses.
- Classroom emergency lockdown buttons - Some classrooms have been equipped with classroom emergency lockdown buttons. If the button is pushed, GWorld Card access to the room will be disabled, and GW Dispatch will be alerted. The door must be manually closed if it is not closed when the button is pushed. Anyone in the classroom will be able to exit, but no one will be able to get in.
